Prophecy of the Class of 1961

One sunny day in 1986 I decided to take a trip back to Big Piney for a reunion with the good old class of 1961. I boarded a plane in New York City. As luck would have it, I was seated by an old classmate, Bud Brause, who was also headed for the class reunion. Upon talking to him, I learned that he is now appearing in a new Broadway hit play. Just then the pilot of the plane came back to welcome the passengers aboard, and to our surprise the pilot was none other than L. D. Porter, who explained that he is now the owner of an airlines company. We all reminisced until the plane landed at Big Piney, where we were greeted by the town mayor, Weldon Chivers. We were taken to Big Piney's most elaborate hotel, the Isenkothe, owned by two former classmates, Bill Kothe and Dennis Isenhardt. We were treated to enormous steaks from one of Vern Mc-Williams' many ranches.

After the delicious meal, we decided to "hit the night spots." First of course was the Tanner Casino, one of the West's most famous night clubs. The special attraction was our old class sponsor, Harvey Graham, who had taken a leave of absence for teaching English at UCLA in order to put in a guest appearance at the piano. Over in a corner we spotted the proprietor of the casino, Dick Tanner, and his private lawyer, Larry Slatter, both of whom were earnestly talking to girls from the Casino's chorus line.

We decided to call it a day and head back to the hotel, but just then Dick Boyt, now a science professor at Yale, came over to our table. With him was another of our old classmates, Carolyn Pfaff, who is now a news correspondent in Germany working for Life magazine.

The next day promised to be a very adventurous and exciting one for us all. We began with skiing at the exclusive resort owned by Eddie Marx and Howard Earles. Here at the ski resort we were joined by Jack Clark, the world-famous center for the Baltimore Colts. With him was the wealthy owner of the championship team, the Greenbay Packers, Mike Murdock. Another famous athlete, coached by Ron Chapin, is the great basketball player, Mike Tyree.

Heading back to town, we stopped for gas at the world's largest gas station, owned by Bill Snively. Next to the station is a new automobile factory, run by Gordon James. Other interesting additions to the town are Penny Chapin's Beauty Salon, where we saw Mary Budd, a prosperous and skillful welder, and the new research building owned by multi-millionaire Steve Chapel.

Thus ended our reunion with the Class of 1961, a class to be remembered for years to come.

Wills of the Class of 1961

I, Mike Murdock, will my football abilities to Vince Tomassi; President of the Student Body to some Junior who will take office with more money than I did; my car to Kenny Near, knowing he wants an Impala; and Mr. BPHS to Doug Vickrey knowing he would be a good father of the year.

I, Eddie Marx, will my learning ability to anyone willing to learn.

I, Larry Slatter, leave to my cousins, Vince Tomassi and Ken Near my world renowned hook shot and to Butch Ward I will Dennis Isenhart's height.

I, Gordon James, leave all my interests in Bookkeeping to the devil and the place where he stays to save further suckers from taking my place.

I, Mary Budd, will my ability to get along with Mr. Gallemore to Linda Garris; my good grades to my sister Nancy, who will need them, and my four years of cheerleading to Joleen McWilliams. I also will my car to Juanita Kundert hoping it runs better than hers does. I will my Shop class to Karen Kundert, knowing she will take advantage of the many opportunities for learning.

I, Mike Tyree, will to Rocky Piernick my surefire course in giving up tobacco and alcohol.

I, Ron Chapin, will my excessive intelligence and good looks to the Juniors, who need them.

I, Vern McWilliams, willfully will my willfulness to any willful soul willing to accept so little as willfulness.

I, Bill Kothe, will my ability to spend money to anyone who has it.

I, Bud Brause, will all of the knowledge I have about guitar to Rocky Piernick, believing that if anyone should learn more about it, it is he.

I, Carolyn Pfaff, will my substitute teaching to anyone with lots of patience and my weight to Joyce Chivers, knowing she can use it.

I, Weldon Chivers, wish to will my correspondence in Spanish to Sheldon Windley, who will probably need it too. I will my title, "Last to Class" to Gary Vickrey, knowing it will fit him well. My private chair in the office goes to anyone who enjoys a comfortable pause in classtime. My position on the football team and my picture with the team I leave to Bob McDonough who must be more deserving than I, and my suit to Vic McGinnis hoping he considers it the mark of honor I did. Amen.

I, Dick Boyt, do hereby will all of my fun and hell-raising on the school bus to whoever will enjoy it most.

I, Bill Snively, will my job after school to anyone needing the money as I did.

I, Dennis Isenhart, will my height to anyone who wants it. I will my ability to use crutches to anyone who wants them.

I, Jack Clark, will my sideburns to Sheldon Windley in hopes that they look better on him than they did on me.

I, Penny Chapin, will my good times in high school to everyone left in BPHS.

I, Dick Tanner, will my ability of very little drumming to Mr. Gallemore, to give to Bill Kvenild, who needs it. My dreaming about girls instead of being a lover to all dreamers. My time put in athletics to all athletic bums.

I, Steve Chapel, will my ability to give speeches to Benny Perkins, knowing he will use it to the best of his ability.

I, Howard Earles, will my anything and everything to anyone and everyone left here.

Mrs. Reta Carr, the librarian, keeps the library and books in good order.

These are the lunchroom cooks who provide nourishing meals for us each day.

Mrs. Carol Hendrickson is the secretary. Got your lunch money in, kids?

School Help

John Snively, the janitor, is all-round handyman for everyone.

It is my sincere wish that as the students of Big Piney Schools look back over the past and forward into the future, they shall realize the need for a very strong education; and in realizing this need, that they make the following demands:

1. The need for high scholastic standards.
2. A faculty of the best quality.
3. An administration and school board who are interested in broader higher education for all students.

As our President has said, "It is not what my government has done for me, but rather what I can do for my government." I would like to close by saying that the students should say, "It is not what my school does for me, but what I can do for my school and what I will also do for my country."

Sincerely,

Clinton Dunning
Superintendent of Schools

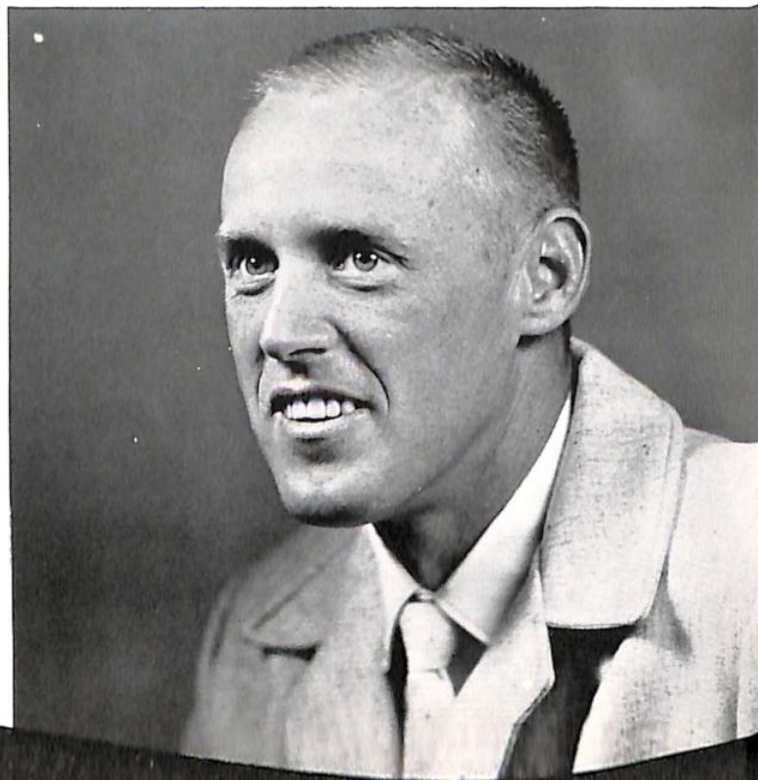

Administrators' Messages

Congratulations to the Graduating Class of 1961:

Each and every year the problems confronting the new generations are greater and more complex. National survival is the big problem facing us today. The basic fundamental duty of every citizen is to put his country's interests first. Too often success is measured in dollars and cents, thereby losing sight of our primary objective. Our own personal and sectional interests are put before the Nation's. Remember, "History shows that republics do not die from without, but from extravagance and corruption within."

Good Luck,

George T. Kurkowski, Principal
